

State AG responds to reassessment lawsuit claims

(Editor's Note—Attorney General A.F. Summer of Mississippi, this week issued a statement concerning a lawsuit filed by a group known as Mississippians Associated for Tax Equity (MATE) on Nov. 4 in Hinds County Chancery Court. The lawsuit was filed by 15 complainants, 11 individuals, and four corporations.

Their objective, according to Howard Lewis, president, Mississippi Economic Council, is equity in property taxation. Defendants cited in the suit are the three commissioners of the State Tax Commission, and chiefs of the Ad Valorem and Equalization Divisions of the State Tax Commission.

The complete text of the attorney general's report is as follows:)

Under the noble cause of obtaining "equal and uniform assessment of property for purposes of taxation" a group of individuals and certain corporations has filed a suit for that purpose. The lawsuit was mapped and coordinated by a non-profit corporation known as "Mississippians Associated for Tax Equity" (MATE). Mr. J. C. Redd of Jackson serves as president of this corporation.

The lawsuit has one central theme: To have the State Tax Commission in Jackson reappraise every parcel of land, every home, building, automobile and other real or personal property on which ad valorem tax is paid and tax it at 100 percent of its true value as determined by appraisers.

The potential staggering impact of this is apparent when you consider that your property is now assessed on the local level at 10 percent to 30 percent of value. This lawsuit asks for an increase of 70 percent to 90 percent in every person's tax base.

Their lawsuit demands assessment of 100 percent of the present market value of your property by the State Tax Commission in Jackson rather than by your county's Tax Assessor or your local Board of Supervisors. The power to assess property would be removed from your local elected county officials to state appointed officials in Jackson. I have been requested to join in this lawsuit since the complainants allege that it is the existing law but has been discriminatorily administered by the County Tax Assessors, the Boards of Supervisors and the State Tax Commission in that over the years they have assessed property from ten to thirty percent of its value rather than 100 percent of its value.

I do not oppose everybody paying their fair share of taxes, and I believe that equality of assessment is a fair goal. I also believe that any type of true equality must come from the Legislature and not the courts.

It is a well known fact to the public and governmental agencies, including the courts, that property has been assessed at different percentages, not exceeding 30 percent, between counties. This interpretation of the law, by custom, and practice since 1890 has never been challenged by any Governor or Legislature to my knowledge.

The concept of equality in taxation of property by court order, as opposed to legislation or action by the Board of Supervisors, in my opinion, is not the answer, because a court cannot order the tax millage rate lowered at the same time it orders a 70 percent to 90 percent increase in assessment, thereby creating the possibility for taxes to go sky high.

Consider the value of your property now. Consider the tax you are paying now based on 10 percent to 30 percent assessment. Now consider the effect if your property assessment was increased to 70 percent to 90 percent as they are asking the court to do.

Opposing this lawsuit is going to be an uphill climb because the way our laws are written gives the complainants a good toehold, but as long as we have a toehold we are going to fight this thing.

There seems to be a fairly large public relations campaign abroad to sell a simple request for equality of taxation as something that everybody ought to accept as being the only fair and just thing to do, creating in some people's mind a question as to why I would oppose such a thing. Well, I don't oppose it if it is done either through the people's representatives in the Legislature and signed by the Governor, or by the Board of Supervisors, because it is my belief that they would not set the tax base for your property at 100 percent of its market value, and at the same time they could reduce the tax millage so taxes would not jump.

However, legislation is one thing and a court order is another. The court can order property assessed at 100 percent of its value rather than the present 10 percent to 30 percent, but a court cannot order the tax millage reduced. This is why I am vigorously opposing the lawsuit.

Consider a few examples if assessments are set at 100 percent and I think you will agree with me.

First, Homestead Exemption for all practical purposes would be wiped out.

Second, with no reduction in tax millage, taxes would be so high that people would lose jobs, homes and other property. It would simply be too expensive to live in Mississippi.

Let me illustrate. In the Bill of Complainant, the Complainants use the following examples of values of residential homestead property

RESIDENCE TRUE ASSESSED
VALUES VALUE

Taxpayer A	$40,000	$9,000
Taxpayer B	$40,000	$6,000
Taxpayer C	$40,000	$4,000

Using complainant's illustration under existing law, homestead property is exempt from taxation, except special levies, such as bond and interest on values up to $5,000. For homeowners 65 years of age and older and disabled veterans, homesteads are exempt from all tax levies up to $5,000. If in each instance, the home of the taxpayer is placed on the tax roll at $40,000, this means that taxpayer (A) will pay ad valorem tax on an additional value of $32,000 instead of $3,000. Taxpayer (B) will pay ad valorem tax on an additional value of

Hunters, woodsmen offer challenge

New NASA-NSTL patrol to cite Buffer Zone land owner rights

by JAKE JACOB
The NASA National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) Buffer Zone is to have security measures beefed up as the result of land owner complaints.

Disputes between the land owners and persons cutting wood and hunting on private property have increased over the last few months, with trespassers under the impression that all lands within the Buffer Zone belong to the government.

NASA's legal department informed the Hancock County Board of Supervisors this week that they and the land owners have formed 'advisory patrols' to inform trespassers of land owner rights in the Buffer Zone.

The vast majority of the involved lands are leased by the government under permanent easements with individual owners retaining the right to farm or otherwise use their lands, although not being permitted to construct a dwelling or other habitable structure.

The new patrol will act in an advisory capacity only, calling on local law enforcement agencies in case of need. Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said last week he intends to follow the advice of the grand jury and submit a hiked budget to reflect necessary salary and other expenses involved in the engagement of four additional deputies.

Supervisors, who have frequently been at loggerheads with Ladner, claiming a lack of patrols and law enforcement activities in individual beats, were cool to the budget increase idea, saying such a move would cost the already over-strained county between $60-75,000. This, they indicated, would be required for additional patrol cars, equipment and the like, in addition to salaries.

Switching to port matters, supervisors agreed their port commissioners should advertise for bids on a lease which expired Jan. 6, for a marina operator at Bayou Caddy (Bayou Cadet).

No indication was given as to whether or not the present lease-holders, John E. Wagner and Terry M. Ladner, intended to bid, but supervisors Bert Courrage, Don Murray, and Larry Seal, of Beat 1, don't express concern over current operational standards, though both tended to side with port director Wilson W. Weber concerning the difficulties encountered by the lessee at the location.

Courrage said the marina "...has been closed half the time and it is not being operated as a public facility."

He said he had been informed that gas and ice were being refused to

Gas hiked 9.5% to Bay users, rate structure faces change

A natural gas hike of 9.5 percent was passed onto the consumer on Tuesday by Bay St. Louis City Council.

The move was followed by a small consumer tempering measure when Council President James C. Thriffley, III, called for a recommendation from the utility department concerning a leveling of rates for all customers.

"When I go to buy gas it does not matter if I purchase 10 or 100 gallons I pay the same unit cost," Thriffley said. The gas hike brings to $1.5750 the cost of 1000 cubic feet to the city, up from the present $1.4388, and several times higher than the 38.86 cents per 1000 cubic feet paid in 1975.

Councilman Fred Wagner even while seconding the Thriffley motion, called for a note of caution, lest disadvantages at present unseen or unknown, mar the straight rate quest.

Thriffley said the existing, varied rate, favored the consumer who uses more gas over the more frugal user.

"The way the rates read it is to your advantage to use as much as you can to get the lower price."

"Instead of giving the person who uses more gas the economic advantage, we will let everybody pay the same," the council president claimed.

In a separate matter, council authorized their engineer, Burk and Associates, to provide inspection serve for city crews embarked on the task of restoring collapsed sewer lines.

On the St. George and Second Street break, Hill reported the manhole is holding water and grease and recommended replacement of 30 feet of pipe to the north of the manhole, now broken. Here he said the city should employ a hinged joint, a process desirable at all manholes.

The Necaise, DeMontluzin break, needs a rebuilding of the manhole to increase its height some 12 inches, new holes punched for drains, hinged joints, and concrete poured into the center to raise the base, internal elevation.

Hill said the final line his company had been asked to inspect, that on Central Ave. between Garden of Memories and Oaks Drive, is full of sand and will require flushing before recommendations can be made.

B.D. (Fip) Johnson to contest county tax assessor post

Burton D. (Fip) Johnson has this week announced for Tax Assessor and Collector, in a special election set for Feb. 11.

The position was made vacant Dec. 31, 1977, through the resignation of George Heitzmann, a man Johnson describes as, having "...served with honor and honesty for 40 odd years."

Johnson said his qualifications include four years service as Hancock County sheriff and tax collector, eight years service as chief building inspector for the City of Bay St. Louis, and his present membership in the Building Inspectors' Association of the State of Mississippi.

Entering 2nd decade, Hancock port harbors ten corporations

by EDGAR PEREZ

Hancock County's Port Bienville Industrial Park, now in its second decade since the first clearing work began in 1967, is the site of five operating corporations and future home of five more planning to locate on the facility's waterfront.

Wilson Weber, director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, which operates Port Bienville, told county supervisors at a recent meeting that all subdivided waterfront lots in the park or either purchased or under option.

Weber noted later three contiguous 90-acre tracts along the port's main channel could be subdivided if a new channel were dug through the center of that area.

Largest operation at the park, in terms of numbers of employees, is Marine Concrete Structures, Inc., manufacturers of offshore drilling platforms and girders for highway overpasses.

A.J. Turner, Marine Concrete superintendent, reported some 160 workers on a $23,000 weekly payroll at the company's Port Bienville yard.

The highly automated Bienville Steel Corp., now in its second year of operation, reported gross sales of more than $2.5 million in its first year with only 20 employees.

The company operates an assembly line of sophisticated steel fabricating equipment, receiving its raw materials by rail at one end of the plant and turning out the finished product at the other end to be shipped on trucks.

John Housey Jr., Bienville Steel president, said the company is providing customers in three states with steel for such diverse structures as grain elevators and chemical plants along the Mississippi River, schools, offices and offshore drilling construction.

Mike Brennan, general manager of Easterly Yachts, a Port Bienville affiliate of Halter Marine Services of New Orleans, said his Hancock County operation is currently seeking additional trim carpenters.

Easterly, which produces a sleek 38-foot fiberglass sailing yacht considered to be one of the finest in yachting circles, has passed a production slowdown in late 1977, according to Brennan.

He said an increased payroll will be (PORT BIENVILLE - Page 6A)

The proposed seven million dollar Harrison County Regional Jail Complex which will serve Hancock County, currently being considered for funding through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) has come one step closer to being a reality.

The application is now being reviewed by state and local planning agencies and has received a strong vote of confidence from the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District (SMPDD).

Waveland housewife $'s

by EDGAR PEREZ

The intersection of Hwy. 603 and US-90 in Waveland will be the site of one of three shopping centers on the Mississippi Gulf Coast scheduled by North Carolina developers for August openings.

Plaza Associates of Chapel Hill said new developments are also planned for US-90 and Vancleave Road in Gutter and on Hwy. 49 across from Northwood Shopping Center in North Gulfport.

"Each shopping center will be anchored by Murphy's Mart with 43,027 square feet; Jitney Jungle Foods of America, also doing business as Food Discount Centers, with 25,000 to 30,000 square feet; and a national drug store," said David G. Jarrell, director of property management for the developers.

"We are currently negotiating with Eckerd Drugs," he added.

Roger Frion, executive vice president of Food Discount Centers, said Wednesday in Jackson, however, that his company has not as yet made a definite commitment to locate a store in the Waveland center.

"No decision at all has been made at this time on that one," Frion said.

"We're not that far along," Frion said, of a question as to whether the possible location in Waveland would be a move from Food Discount's present store at Second and State Streets in Bay St. Louis, or a second location in the Bay-Waveland area.

Plaza Associates has been developing shopping centers for the past 11 years in North Carolina, Virginia, New York, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa and Texas. Jarrell said the company has a one-half million square foot retail shopping center in the Waveland area.

"Our intention is to develop the Mississippi Gulf Coast as a self-contained area, one of the nation's great shopping centers," he said.

Assessments...

$34,000 instead of $1,000. Taxpayer (C) will pay ad valorem tax on $35,000 where he has not paid any ad valorem tax in the past. The average millage rate for county and state taxes is approximately 60 mills. In the past Taxpayer (A) has paid a tax of $180.00 per year on his home. Taxpayer (B) has paid a tax of $60.00 on his home; Taxpayer (C) has not paid any tax on his home.

Based on a tax levy of 60 mills and an assessed evaluation of 100 percent or $40,000, (A), (B), and (C) would then pay an annual tax of $2,400 on their home regardless of what county or where they live in the state.

Now, let's assume that the tax levy would be reduced to one-fourth its present amount to 15 mills, then Taxpayer (A) will pay a tax of $525 per year on his home, an additional tax of $345. Taxpayer (B) will pay a tax of $525 on his home, an additional tax of $465. Taxpayer (C) will pay a tax of $525 on his home where he has not paid any tax on his home heretofore.

If your house has a market value of $20,000, you can cut this increase in half, but it would be a heavy increase. A simple home worth $15,000 which is probably totally exempt now would pay $600 a year at 60 mills or $150 at the vastly reduced 15 mills. A $10,000 home would no longer be exempt. The taxes would be $300 unless millage was reduced and even then $75 a year. This hits the most humble and helpless.

If this same principle is also applied to municipal taxes, the increase in taxes; state, county and municipal; would then be $690, $930, and $1,050 as applied to the foregoing illustrations. Apartment rents would probably have to be increased because of the increased assessments.

The complainants claim that by simply reducing the millage rates levied by the Board of Supervisors, after increasing drastically the assessed valuation of property, that the tax paid by the taxpayer would not be increased. There are a number of reasons that this would not be the case; first, a state tax levy of four mills on the dollar is fixed by state law. Any change in this levy must be made by the Legislature with the approval of the Governor. Second, when a county becomes a participating member of a Junior College District, the Board of Supervisors pledges a fixed millage rate on all taxable property within the county for support of the Junior College District. Under the law of this state, this millage rate cannot thereafter be reduced without a prior order of the board of trustees of the Junior College requesting a reduction in the levy. Third, the sole authority to fix the county and district tax levies is vested in the Boards of Supervisors, subject to statutory limitations, and the courts are absolutely without authority to fix the tax rates or levies, and while I believe they would be responsive and try to lower the millage, there is certainly no assurance that the boards throughout the state could reduce the tax rates low enough to prevent a sizeable increase in taxes.

There is no doubt that there are tax inequities abounding but this lawsuit does not settle that question. While they may get all property equally assessed at 100 percent of its value, there is no guarantee that the tax millage will be the same in all 82 counties. It will be just as much off kilter one way as another so their goal of tax equality through the courts could become a nightmare in its application. The cure they are seeking to apply could kill the patient.

If the complainants are so dissatisfied with the present application of the law, they will be pleased to know that the Legislature is at this time working on a solution. This is the proper forum for the matter to be settled; however, if the Legislature does not act and the lawsuit is not withdrawn, we will continue as we are now to defend the taxpayers against this thunderbolt intrusion into their pocketbook.

Unless this matter is settled in the Legislature, then all of this amassed trouble, manifested by this lawsuit, will pass from everyone in State Government to me. I did not build the fire, pass the laws or administer them, but since the ball will be in my park, I cannot allow eleven individuals and four corporations, all complainants in this lawsuit, to impose their theory of the law, their will and their theory of the facts, upon the state and its counties and our people without putting them to proof.

I hope and trust that you share my concern relative to the lawsuit that has been filed. Hopefully, the Legislature will move in a direction to prevent the burdensome effect of this lawsuit. They can set a ceiling on assessments less than 100 percent, they can put a ceiling on millage rates or tax levies and certainly prevent a traumatic tax increase.

ADVERTISEMENT Florida Celery Remoulade

Celery as jewel-green and crisp as that coming from Florida fields at this time of year is a sort of symbol of entertaining; the best china, the best silver, with an offering of fragrant celery in the middle of the table.

Celery Remoulade is an ideal celery salad. It may be served as an appetizer, in place of the usual tossed green salad which accompanies the main dish, or it can be teamed with a platter of your best sandwiches.

Florida grows half of the celery eaten in this country from fall to late spring. Almost always it is a thrifty buy because Florida growers have developed efficient production methods and there is small loss in transit. Moreover, a stalk of celery, properly refrigerated, lasts for days, right at hand when you have to prepare good snacks for guests on the spur of the moment.

CELERY REMOULADE

- |                                  |  |
|----------------------------------|--|
| 1/2 cup mayonnaise               | 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper             |
| 2 tablespoons catsup             | 6 cups thinly sliced Florida celery          |
| 2 tablespoons sliced scallions   | 1/4 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives |
| 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish |  |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt                |  |

In a large bowl combine mayonnaise, catsup, scallions, sweet pickle relish, salt and black pepper; mix well. Add celery and green olives; toss lightly. If desired, garnish with celery leaves. Serve as an appetizer or salad. YIELD: About 1 1/2 quarts (6 portions).

Bay schools to enter mathematics tourney

Nearly 150 high schools from throughout the state, including St. Stanislaus and Our Lady's Academy, both Bay St. Louis, will be participating in the Fourth Annual Mississippi College Science and Mathematics Tournament, Feb. 2 and 3 at Clinton.

The tournament, which includes both team and individual competition, offers over $12,000 in academic scholarships at Mississippi College.

Individual competition includes one hour written exams in math, biology, chemistry, and physics. Each student is allowed to compete in two of the four divisions. First place winners are given a $1,000 scholarship and second place winners receive a $500 scholarship. The top ten percent in each division are given certificates of recognition.

Team competition is divided into two classes depending on the science and math curriculum offered by the individual schools. Those schools offering advanced math and physics are put into Class I with others falling into Class II.

Each team, consisting of four members who are allowed to work together, competes in a quiz type format where questions are flashed on the screen and quick calculations and responses are required. All calculations are done with pencil and paper.

Each team member of the winning team receives a $25 savings bond and the school of the first, second and third place winners receives a plaque.

According to Dr. Dean Parks, chairman of the tournament, over 2,000 letters have been sent out inviting every public and private school in the state to the competition.

The tournament is sponsored each year by the Mississippi College Division of Science and Mathematics to recognize students and their high schools for outstanding academic achievement in science and math.

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas

Will we be ready?

Many things on our mind were brought to surface recently in a letter to the editor from one of our Pearlinton readers.

Is Hancock County in a position to accommodate the expected influx of new residents arriving in the area, to help fill the jobs soon to be available at Dupont, Alcan, Army Ammunition Plant, Bergeron, and other industries eyeing this county.

We have seen and heard of the many problems that Slidell, La., encountered in relationship to schools, city services, etc. during their big growth.

The future expansion of the western part of Hancock County has to hinge on the school situation in that area.

Unless a high school is built in that immediate area, potential residents with children, will bypass us if their children have to attend high school at Hancock North Central. We do not have anything against Hancock North Central as a school, but the distance from West Hancock.

Will our present school facilities in the Hancock County and Bay-Waveland Municipal School systems be able to educate an increased student body. Slidell had to use house trailers for many years as did we for awhile as temporary classrooms, we hope that will never happen in Hancock County again because of poor planning on the part of our political leaders.

Unlike the NASA boom, which for awhile resulted in over building of utilities and public facilities, the type of commercial and industrial settlement now taking place is here to stay.

It would behoove the politicians and voters alike to immediately prepare long range plans for overall county development, which should include construction of a West Hancock County High School.

Eastland

FARM STRIKE

Senator James O. Eastland this week said the nationwide farmers' strike has made the consumer more aware of the economic plight of America's farmers.

In a statement issued in Washington, Senator Eastland, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said a fair target price for farm products should be the goal of the Congress when it reconvenes on Jan. 19.

"The farm strike movement has dramatically demonstrated to the American consumer the plight of the farmer," said Senator Eastland. "The scenes of tractors driving on city streets has emphasized the economic injustice from which the farmer suffers."

"The farmer has been faced with increased costs for labor, equipment, fuel, chemicals and other farm necessities. Yet, the price he receives for his product has not kept up with these increased production costs."

"These farm costs will require a more generous target price, accompanied by an aggressive export policy. The production of food and fiber must be on a sound financial basis. This will call for the intervention of the government."

"A target price reflecting the costs of production as well as a reasonable profit sufficient for the farmer to live in comfort and maintain the value of his land should be the minimum objective of the Congress. I will work toward reaching that goal," said Eastland.

"Again, I want to emphasize that I believe the farm strike movement has made the consumer more receptive to the idea of economic justice for the American farmer."

center will be on the north side of the intersection of Hwy. 603 and U.S. 90.

The "one-stop-shopping" centers will range in size from 82,000 to 100,000 square feet of retail shopping space in addition to adequate parking space.

Jarrell said plans for the Waveland development call for some 100,000 square feet of shopping area located to the rear of a parking area with access from both highways.

"Our target dates are to start construction in late March or early April and to open in August, 1978," Jarrell said.

FRAMED RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION passed by Bay St. Louis City Council was presented to George Heitzmann former county tax assessor, collector on Tuesday in City Hall. Heitzmann resigned the post effective Dec. 31, after 42 years of service in Hancock County Courthouse. Participating in

members of the public unless that person was already doing business with the marina.

Peterson centered his objections around the lack of restrooms at the location saying people from the country were constantly complaining about the lack of such a suitable facility.

Webre said it was hard to provide all the services required by the public at the location and hoped the situation would change when the larger, future anchorage was constructed, a situation seemingly "...three or four years away."

Stennis International Airport, also operated under auspices of the port commission, next occupied the county mentors, Webre informing them of the Air-and-Water-Pollution-Control-Commission's intent to hold a public hearing on Feb. 23 at the Hancock County Library on US-90, concerning the issuance of a proposed permit for treated waste water discharge from the field.

Port Bienville...

necessary early this year to meet a demand for the 31-foot fiberglass Lafitte Skiff, another product of the port Bienville yard.

Employment at International Salvage and Demolition's yard is down to only a few men as the company finishes up contracts to scrap World War II Liberty Ships for the State of Florida.

The company's operations here suffered a set-back last year when the bottom fell out of the scrap steel market.

However, the company did complete its lease-purchase agreement with the Port and Harbor Commission last year and is now owner of the land it occupies in the park.

A. K. Moore, president of the Port Bienville Terminal Corporation, said employment and tonnage figures on his operation for the previous year are not immediately available.

The Port and Harbor Commission is still engaged in extensive negotiations with Atlas Powder Co. on terms of a lease for that company which plans a nitro-carbon explosives handling facility at the park.

Commission members are scheduled to visit an Atlas installation in Georgia Monday for first-hand observation of safety requirements peculiar to that industry.

Also concluded in late 1977 is a lease-purchase agreement between the commission and Steve Knight Steel Fabricators of Slidell.

The Knight corporation plans a metal fabrication operation here as well as sandblasting and repainting barges.

Bergeron Industries, Inc., of St. Bernard, La., plans to build a $250,000 to $500,000 barge assembly and launching system at Port Bienville this year.

William T. Bergeron Jr., executive vice president, said the facility will "employ some 40 people on a payroll of at least $500,000 annually."

The Bourg-Warner Corporation has already paid the commission some $160,000 in lease payments on Port Bienville acreage designated by the company for a chemical tank farm.

Part of the controversy in which the commission finds itself currently embroiled over the Atlas Powder Co. lease is due to Bourg-Warner objections to establishment of an explosives handling facility adjacent to its proposed chemical storage tanks.

Delta Concrete Piling Company holds an option on an 8.6 acre waterfront parcel with 500 feet of frontage on the channel.

Webre said a Bay St. Louis bank holds title to another parcel, 35 acres embracing 1,265 feet of water frontage, repossessed from the now-defunct Jackson Landing Shipyard.

scheduled to go either to the center of Bayou LaCroix or into the Jourdan River Webre indicated that public opinion would undoubtedly be expressed.

Criticism was again levelled against the commission for their failure to put a single engineering firm under contract.

Board President Alton A. Kellar said he just "...doesn't understand why the port commission cannot put an engineering firm under an umbrella contract instead of their continually coming before the board with individual project requests."

Webre said that he understands the apprehension of the board but if they are successful in their bids for various government funding then all the engineering expenses are "...washed out..." The issue arose after the county government was asked to authorize payment of $1500 to Advanced Developments, Inc. (ADI), to represent Hancock's interests at the proposed airport waste water outfall hearing.

This expense was described by Webre as being one which was "...something we didn't anticipate."

Earlier in the session supervisors had approved payment of $4730 to ADI for work in connection with the preparation of a Title 1, Economic Development Administration grant.

An additional port commission request for $5000 to ADI for the preparation of contract documents and design work, plus $2600 for supervision should the job be approved, all in connection with a proposed $67,000 apron extension at Stennis Field was turned aside by supervisors who were dissatisfied with the estimates presented for dirt movement, and questioned the necessity of completing the work at one time, as opposed to taking a piecemeal approach.

Funds for the project, needed to provide additional aircraft tie down spaces, are to come from the airport construction funds as no government assistance is at this time available.

A report that oil discharge from Port

Bienville was polluting Bayou Mulatto is to receive an investigation by the port authority.

In other matters supervisors:

-Granted a one year interim franchise to the Colosseum Corporation of a cable television system;

-Read a letter from Fred Wagner, architect, addressed to Frank Dunway, county engineer, stating his final inspection of two community centers, one each at Bayou Phillips and Necaise Crossing had revealed only minor defects and expressed the hope all site dressing could be complete within two weeks to permit a turn over of keys to the supervisors;

Opened bids on road striping, a project to be readvertised due to the low bidder failing to correctly prepare his submission;

Put a 10 ton load limit and 30 miles per hour speed limit on Blue Meadow Road, Stewart Drive, North Beach, and Kiln-Picayune Road.

Fip Johnson...

In connection with his candidacy, Johnson said yesterday, "I have been awarded several certificates of appreciation for work with the Senior Citizens of this county."

"I also play country music for patients in nursing homes in this and other counties. This activity I thoroughly enjoy because I, in turn, feel I am bringing pleasure to the lives of those less fortunate."

He said that through his constant exposure to land and properties throughout the county he is thoroughly aware of land and property values in Hancock.

"I feel that should I be fortunate enough to win this special election I will be able to bring the people of this county the same brand of fine service they have enjoyed for so many years," Johnson concluded.

Governor Cliff Finch

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

I am currently proposing a $500 million new road program over the next 10-year period. This program will save in excess of $100 million over 29 years, or a net present value of $30 million out of the existing highway indebtedness.

All of our so-called highway programs are now at a standstill, and we must start with a bold, new innovative road and highway program that is realistic and which our people know they will receive.

We cannot lose one more day, or waste one more dollar.

Under present bond laws, we can issue no bonds until well into the 1990's. This problem has been building for several years, but we have never fully faced up to it with a sound and workable long-range solution. What has been done up to now has been a failure.

For the past several months, I have studied many proposals and looked at every possibility, and have developed the road and highway plan I will present to the Legislature in January.

This program is one we can pay for, and one that will build our roads and highways now and at the same time save the taxpayers millions of dollars.

In order to have this $500 million road program, I propose the following:

First, advance refinancing of the $44 million outstanding in our authorized but unfunded highway programs. This refinancing will be done in such a way as to produce two results -

A. It will save in excess of $100 million dollars, or net present value of $30 million on our outstanding bond indebtedness.

B. Provide the ability to issue $280 million of new bonds for highway construction.

Second - earmark that part of the sales tax on gasoline produced by the rise in gasoline prices since 1969 to be placed in a highway bond trust fund to be used to issue an additional $240 million of bonds.

This $500 million in the new bond money will give the people of Mississippi a minimum of $150 - $180 million a year for 10 years for a realistic road program.

My new road program will not require raising taxes one red cent.

long as the millage needed for paying back the money fell within the boundaries of the two mills authorized by state statute then council could do nought but grant the request.

Thriffley took exception to the fact that in spite of the problem being 10 years old, a statement made before council by Superintendent J.D. McCullough when seeking the facilities funding, the item had not appeared on any school budget.

Observers later claimed such would probably be true citing that budgets contained a projection of needed operational funds whereas the loan represented a capital improvement.

Council did indicate that should 20 percent of the qualified voters of the separate school district sign a petition objecting to their entering into agreement to obtain the funds, a referendum would be necessary.

The motion to procure the funds was made by Councilman Wilmer Seymour, seconded by Councilman Fred Wagner.

The money will be utilized by the school system as matching funds to some $109,830 previously committed Educational Finance Commission (EFC) funding, to provide necessary totals.

In a diverse meeting council agreed to let the mayor go ahead with installation of donated pumps to a wet well on Easterbrook St., should the amount of such not exceed $700. The action will permit 1200 feet of sewer line, already in position, to be put into service within the city system.

A performance bond covering proposed water, gas, curbing, and street, installations in Westwood Subdivision was accepted, along with the information that the work was already 50 percent complete.

Bids are to commence for clean-up of the Landry-Thomas property on St. George and Second Street, a decision previously postponed on request of the property owner.

A like decision concerning the Mildred Krohn property Lot 34, Ballentine Street, was deferred for 30 days at the request of new owners who have informed the city of their intent to rehabilitate the area.

No resolutions were received by council from their Planning and Zoning Commission although its chairman, Jay Triche, said his group had begun the task of revising the city's subdivision regulations.

Bidding is also to commence on installation of some 1-3000 feet of gas line, one third of which is on Julia Street, the balance on St. John. Burk and Associates, city engineers, were instructed to prepare the plans and specifications on both projects.

Council voted to subscribe an additional $50 per year to the Hancock Chamber of Commerce, and seek bids on a new, six cylinder police car.

Charles Hill with Burk and Associates, said his company was awaiting approval of final plans of the proposed pedestrian overpass by both the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Roads.

Jail...

In its approval through the regional clearinghouse for federal-state program, SMP-DD stated the proposed jail is an "innovative project utilizing the most current architectural and planning concepts now available in correctional design."

SMPDD encouraged LEAA to fund the jail as a "high priority project." If approved, it will serve Harrison and Stone Counties in addition to Hancock.

Tribute is given to a fine general

By JOE FILET
CHAIRMAN,

Americanism & DAR
Manual for Citizenship

Today, January 19, we raise our flags in a salute to Robert Edward Lee, distinguished and beloved commanders of the Confederate Army during the Civil War, and who was born 171 years ago in Westmoreland County, Virginia.

Unlike many Southerners, Lee did not believe in slavery and had freed the few slaves he inherited long before the outbreak of the war. Although Lee was against secession, his fight was "a second war of independence."

Lee elected to spend his last years as President of Washington College in Lexington and Lee University. At a time when bitterness increased between the North and South, Lee discouraged continued hard feelings and said: "Make your sons Americans." Lee is buried in the chapel he built at Lexington, and his home has been preserved in Arlington National Cemetery.

Lee's birthday anniversary is a fitting time to pay tribute to the memory of a great man who devoted his life to the service of his country. A soldier, a gentleman, and a scholar, Lee was never known to smoke, drink alcoholic beverages or use profane language. He commanded armies and more importantly merited the respect and admiration of friend, foreigner, and foe.

Gym dedicated in honor of member SSC Hall of Fame

The Harry (Wop) Glover Memorial Gym was dedicated in honor of the former director of the Jefferson Parish Recreation Department and member of the St. Stanislaus Hall of Fame Friday night in Metairie.

During the dedication ceremonies, roses and a plaque along with a commendation from the Metairie City Council, were presented to Mrs. Marie Campbell Glover by James Quigley, acting superintendent of the Jefferson Parish Recreation Department, and Bruce Rester, acting recreation director.

The invocation was presented by Father Daniel Cobb. Both county and city officials were represented at the service. John A. "Baby Grand" Scaffide, of Bay St. Louis, classmate and teammate of Glover's at both St. Stanislaus and Tulane, also made a short speech.

"Wop" Glover was an outstanding athlete," commented Scaffide Wednesday. "One of few four year lettermen at Tulane, he was a star of the Rose Bowl game which we played against Southern California in 1932." Scaffide and Glover were inducted into the St. Stanislaus Hall of Fame in 1972.

After college, Glover returned to St. Stanislaus as coach. Later he moved from Bay St. Louis to Metairie to become director of the Jefferson Parish Recreation Department. Glover also served as athletic director of Jefferson Parish Schools and as coach of Bherman High School in New Orleans. Following a long illness, Glover died in Baptist Hospital in New Orleans Sept. 6, 1977, at the age of 66.

While director of the recreation department,

Glover pioneered plans for the facility dedicated to him in Metairie, which also contains meeting rooms and can be used for an auditorium.

Bay rally in second half

Charlie Vincent racked up 27 points to lead St. Stanislaus to a 77-73 win over Pass Christian in a Tuesday night basketball confrontation in Bay St. Louis.

The Pirates started strong, sinking 23 points in the first quarter to move ahead of the Rockchaws by five. The Rocks totaled 22 points in the second while holding the Pirates to seven to capture the lead, 40-30 at the half.

Pass High scored 20 and 23 points in the final periods. Despite the rally, they were unable to catch the Rocks.

Charlie Vincent was high scorer for the game with 27 points, backed up by Kerry Corr with 19, for St. Stanislaus.

Cullen Swanier led Pass High with 23 points. Virgil Swanier added 16, and John Wittman scored 11 more.

Weight watching is Busy Fingers topic

Busy Fingers Extension Homemakers Club held its monthly meeting Tuesday morning in extension auditorium. Mrs. Ethel Breaux conducted the business session in the absence of Mrs. Delphine Taconi, president.

A report on the recent leader training on meal planning for weight watchers was given by Mrs. Gloria Holmes and booklets concerning food and calories were distributed to members. Mrs. Holmes presented the focus for the month on consumer protection concerning complaints.

Mrs. Breaux closed the meeting with the thought for the month, "You don't have to blow out the other fellow's light to make your own light shine."

Hearing impairments can strike persons of all ages. Young persons who believe they need not be concerned about their hearing ability until reaching senior citizen status can be headed for trouble.

Free milk cutback on school lunches reported by USDA

The second half-pint of milk now available free to students in the free school lunch program will be discontinued as of Feb. 1, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Superintendent Terry Randolph of Hancock County schools, who serves as distributor of federal commodities to all schools in the county, said he has received information from USDA indicating money saved in the milk cutback will go to providing more nutritious foods through the program.

Lisa Saper is Pass selectee to D.C.

Pass Christian High School will participate in a unique government study program in Washington, D.C., by sending a student representative to attend the 1978 Presidential Classroom for Young Americans. Lisa Lehrer Saper will represent her community and state as a member of the Classroom's National Student Body.

During the intensive one-week program, Jan. 21-28, Lisa will join other outstanding high school students from across the nation and overseas in meeting with government leaders and Washington observers.

Students attend formal seminars at which national decision-makers representing a wide range of political ideologies discuss the numerous operations and responsibilities of the Federal government. Each seminar is followed by a question and answer period in which the students are free to personally explore the speaker's topic of discussion. Several of the seminars are on-site briefings at Federal agencies and on Capitol Hill. The curriculum focuses upon the nature of the Federal institutions and decision-making processes that, combined with political power, are responsible for our national public policies. The goal of the program is to foster leadership potential and civic responsibility among student leaders by exposing them to the dynamics of our democratic system at its nucleus - Washington, D.C.

"Those needy children who want an extra half-pint of milk with their meals will be able to purchase it at a low price made possible through the special milk program," Ms. Foreman added.

The first free half-pint will continue to be available also to children in the program when they bring lunch from home, she noted.

Winless MJC drops another contest to Pearl River

The Pearl River Junior College Wildcats missed a shut-out by one point in their 12-1 win over the Meridian Eagles, who have not won a game all season, in a junior college basketball match Saturday in Meridian.

The Lady Wildcats came from behind in the fourth quarter to give Pearl River the day by trouncing the Lady Eagles 65-58.

The Pearl River boys were out front by four points at the end of the third period, 4-0, then moved ahead 10-0 with 34 seconds left in the game when PRC's Jeff Cross fouled the Eagle's Larry Emerson as he raced for the basket. Emerson sank one of two to give Meridian its only point of the game.

Head Coach Charles Rea of Meridian played his second string throughout the first half.

Jeff Cross was lead scorer for PRC with four points. Elton Brown, Tommy Holder, and Brian Ladner contributed two points each.

The Meridian girls held the lead against the Lady Wildcats, 54-48, at the end of the third quarter. PRC racked-up 17 points in the final period while allowing the Meridian ladies four to take the second straight win of the season for the Lady Wildcats.

Rita Howard paced the Lady Wildcats with 16 points. Toni Byrd followed with 14, scoring 12 of those in the second half. Mary Nell Taylor also added 11.

Pearl River plays Co-Lin at Wesson Thursday night, then meets Jones at home, Tuesday, Jan. 24.

Federal excise tax on telephone equipment and services dropped from five percent to four percent effective January 1, 1978. The change will result in an estimated savings to Mississippi customers of more than $3 million this year.

An additional savings of approximately one-half million dollars for Mississippi telephone customers will result from a new law which removes from the Federal excise tax base state and local taxes that are listed separately on customer bills. This change is effective with bills rendered on or after January 1, 1978.

Want to save money on long distance calls? Here are some tips on how to do just that!

Dial long distance calls yourself. When you dial long distance calls the One-Plus way you save money. One-Plus calls are the cheapest way to call anywhere in the United States. Just dial 1, plus the area code (if different from your own), plus the distant number.

Call during bargain periods. Long distance calls you dial direct the One-Plus way cost less during evening, night, and weekend hours.

Call person-to-person only when necessary. A person-to-person call is the most expensive kind of long distance call. So call person-to-person only when you wish to speak to a particular person or when you must reach a particular extension phone.

Tell us if you make a mistake. If you reach a wrong number when dialing long distance, we don't want you to pay for the call. Immediately dial an operator and explain about the mistake so you won't be charged for it. If you are calling from a coin phone, a refund will be mailed to you.

Don't pay for a bad connection. If, by chance, you get a poor connection or are cut off on a long distance call, both parties should hang up. The person who placed the call should then dial the operator and describe the problem. The operator will reestablish the call and see that you aren't charged for the interrupted time.

One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed calls, operator-handled calls, coin telephone calls, or calls from a hotel or motel.

Annual Bay High Invitational Tournament is underway here

By SHARON WALLS
"The annual Bay High Invitational Tournament has been going since before I came and I've been here more than twenty years," explained Wilmer Seymour, athletic director for Bay High. This year's tournament runs from Jan. 19 through the 21st in the Tigerdome.

"By state rules, each team is allowed to attend only three invitational tournaments each year, so the tournament is not as big as it used to be," Seymour continued.

"Everyone who accepts our invitation gets on the schedule, so the size of the tournament varies.

"In years past, the tournament might start on Mondays and last all week. Fifteen or 20 teams would participate," the athletic director said.

This year, eight boys' teams and eight girls' teams accepted Bay High's invitation. The teams will play fourteen games in all, four games each night for the first three nights, then two games in the finals on Saturday.

"The tournament this year is about average size," Seymour commented. "Four games a night is a lot of basketball."

"We have invited some good drawing teams. Harrison Central and Hancock North Central both are good teams. The teams are fairly divided for good games. The brackets are not fixed."

The money taken in at the gate is used to pay the expenses of the tournament. Fifty percent of the money goes to the teams and the state association gets a percentage. The rest of the money is used to pay officials and tournament workers.

"There not much left over," Seymour said. "The purpose of the tournament is not to make money. We want to promote basketball in this area and give the people of this community an opportunity to watch good games."

"We hope there will be a good turn-out. The boys and girls play better with a bigger crowd cheering for them."

Hawks to fly in Superdome, Tues.

By SHARON WALLS
Coach Roland Ladner of Hancock North Central will lead his Hawks against the Warriors of D'Iberville in a pre-Boston Celtic-New Orleans Jazz exhibition game at 5:15 p.m., Jan. 24, in the New Orleans Superdome.

"The directors of the Jazz often invite high school teams from surrounding areas to play before their games as a drawing card to help sell the Jazz," explained Ladner. "Hancock North Central and D'Iberville will bring in spectators from all along the coast."

"The teams asked to play are chosen on the basis of a strong basketball tradition, a good record, or because of some gimmick," Ladner added.

When the Hawks met Gulfport in the Dome two years ago, the Hawks had won their way into the South State Tourney 14 consecutive years, had advanced to the state playoffs several times and taken top honors there. HNC and Gulfport were the first two high school teams to play in the Superdome.

HNC defeats Bay Tigers in Hawk's roost

By SHARON WALLS
Coach Roland Ladner of Hancock North Central was able to give his second string a little exercise in the fourth quarter of Saturday's basketball game against Bay High when the Hawks trounced the Tigers, 72-62.

"They could have beaten us, worse," commented Mike Necaise, coach for the Bay High Tigers. "Coach Ladner did some substituting in the last quarter, instead of playing his starters and running up the score."

"Coach Necaise is working hard to bring up the program at Bay High and that will be good for basketball throughout the area," Ladner said. "Everyone has to work to promote the game for any of us to be able to have a good program."

Hancock was the undisputed leader from the first quarter until the final bell. The Hawks defense bottled up Bay High's offense, forcing the Tigers to depend on Mike Thompson's shooting ability.

Thompson was high scorer for the game, hitting 38 points and taking 10 rebounds. He was the only Tiger to score over 10 points. Alex Gillum took nine rebounds.

For the winning Hawks, Alan Dedeaux netted 16 points. Dean Shaw and Moses Hill added 13 each and David Ladner contributed 12 more. Hill led the Hawks in rebounds with nine, followed by David Ladner with eight. Ladner and Barry Arcement are credited with three steals each.

"Last year our team was a little young," commented Ladner, "but this year we are ready to play. We are glad to be going back."

"I think D'Iberville was chosen because they have great potential in the person of their six-foot-nine center, Danny Dunlap, called by some one of the best college prospects in the state," Ladner continued.

"On our first trip, we went all out trying to sell tickets in Bay St. Louis, Picayune, and Poplarville," Ladner said. Hancock North Central sold 600 tickets for that game.

This year, tickets to both games are being sold at special discount rates: $6 tickets are on sale for $4.50; $4 tickets are $3. There is no discount on the $7.50 tickets for special seats.

Persons interested in acquiring tickets can buy them at the school or contact Thad Haskins, principal, HNC, 255-7191, 255-7192, or 255-1580.

Bay boxers take 3 in Biloxi bout

Members of the Hancock County Boxing Club won three out of five contests in a one night show in Biloxi Saturday night.

Mike Boswell won a rematch against Pat Gary of Biloxi by unanimous decision in the 50 pound division.

Mike Stringer defeated Clarence Broadnax of Pensacola, Florida, for honors in the 110 pound class. In the 125 pound category, Billy Borne lost to Jerry Goff of Saucier in a three round decision.

Mike Shields of Hancock won by a knock-out in 29 seconds of the first round over Marty Fournier of Pensacola. Shields fights in the 155 pound class.

In the main event of the night, Joe Pavolini of Hancock defeated Jimmy Goff of Biloxi in the 165 pound class. Goff won the decision over Pavolini.

The Hancock Club will present an amateur boxing show at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night, Jan. 21, in the National Guard Armory in Bay St. Louis. Tickets will be $2 for adults.

Boys who will be fighting in Saturday's presentation include: Charlie Mitchell, Lamar Boswell, Bruce Robinson, Shawn Henderson, Phillip Harlaux, Nick Salde, Mike Stringer, Mike Shields, Brian Henton, Scott Ferve, Troy Saucier, Richard LeBat, Henry Nixon, Shane Nixon, and Andre Daniels.

In the first weeks of March, the boxing club plans a benefit show for the Bay March of Dimes. The contest will include local boys competing against each other.

People interested in donating a trophy or taking out an ad in the program may contact Mrs. Polly Boswell, chairman for this area, by letter at Rt. 2, Box 502, Bay St. Louis, or call Harvey Mitchell at 467-4721.

UP FOR TWO—Hawkettes Sheila Ladner, 40, goes up for two for Hancock North Central against Tigerettes of Bay High on Saturday at home. Ladner was high scorer for game with 20 points and eight rebounds.

HNC girls take Laurels in contest against BHS

By SHARON WALLS

From a twenty point lead at half-time, the Hawkettes moved on to take the Tigerettes of Bay High 68-37 in girls' basketball action Saturday at Hancock North Central.

The score at the half was 41-19 in favor of the Hawkettes after a closely fought first quarter.

In the third period, the Hancock girls intercepted three half-court passes, using them to set up a scoring drive. HNC rolled up 17 points in this quarter alone to make the score 58-27.

Charlene Haynes, one of Bay High's leading scorers for the game, went down with a sprained ankle with 35 seconds left in the third.

"We put ice on the sprain almost as soon as the accident happened. That kept down the swelling," Coach Willie Bradley commented Tuesday. "Charlene has been working out with us some, and she will be able to play in the Bay High tournament against Pass Christian Wednesday."

With a comfortable 31 point lead going into the final

Developmentally disabled children

The "total family" is the major thrust of the preschool program at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center located at 4515 Old Pass Road, Gulfport. The program offers training for developmentally disabled children from birth to three years and special counseling programs for their parents.

Classes are held from 9 a.m. until noon Monday through Friday at the center. The program's staff includes trained teachers, speech therapist, social worker and behavioral psychologist.

Kay Bracken, the program's director, explained that "by starting early, in the first three years, a child has a better possibility of developing to his full potential." In the same way, she added, the family can learn early how to effectively deal with the child's needs as an entire unit.

Physical therapy, sensory and language stimulation and behavior modification are utilized by the staff in individualized programs. The staff is trained to deal with such disabilities as cerebral palsy, learning disabilities, emotional disturbances, epilepsy, mental retardation, muscular dystrophy, blindness, deafness, multiple sclerosis, arthritis and physical and neurological deficiencies.

The classes begin with daily exercise aimed at promoting relaxation. Therapy and stimulation activities occupy most of the remainder of the class period. Jo Ann Kennedy, one of the preschool teachers, said even day-to-day activities such as listening to music, being spoken to in a normal manner and being around other children are valuable methods of stimulation.

The parents' needs are of equal concern to the program's staff. Teacher Marlene Pisarch said group therapy gives the parents an opportunity to "voice their feelings to other parents of developmentally disabled children." She said individual counseling and conferences are also available to help parents realize their children's needs and to deal with special problems and feelings they may encounter.

The preschool program is funded by a Title XX grant through the Department of Public Welfare as well as local funds administered through Region XIII (Harrison, Hancock, Pearl River and some counties) departments of welfare. Fees are determined on a sliding scale according to income and number of dependents by the Department of Public Welfare.

Additional information concerning the preschool program may be obtained by calling (toll free) 1-800-863-1132.

Biloxi Cultural Center displays Stamm exhibit

By JOE PILET

For most people living along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Thursday, Jan. 12, was just another of those rainy, overcast, cold and dreary days with which to be reckoned. Not so for Nadine Stamm who lives at 1002 North Beach in Bay St. Louis. She is a recognized artist with an enviable accumulation of awards winners including: first place, Dixie South Show; first place, Portraits Gulf Park College; museum purchase, Mobile Art Museum; and numerous purchase awards as well as private collectors awards.

On the previous Wednesday, Nadine had been invited to display a one-artist showing in Biloxi's new Library and Culture Center. The invitation was extended through Judy Rash, Director, History and Art, City of Biloxi, with offices in the historic building that housed the First Free Library in Mississippi.

The little building, now a museum, flourished as a 1905 school room and library. It is located in the plaza just behind the Culture Center.

The little cottage was built circa 1830 by John Delauney and is an important example of early Gulf Coast housing. Nadine's meeting with Judy in this building was an easy, friendly and informal discussion of art - exhibits - and more, especially the "Art from Nature" which has attracted many gifted and talented persons to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Nadine's seascapes, exquisite water coloring, capture the spirit of both sea and shoreline. Her paintings do not compete with nature, rather they simply tend to compliment the environment.

Blended into her works are growing things, subtle hints from sky and clouds - and drifting gulls and sailing ships. Nadine's works are insurance against oblivion - they are destined to live on and remain cherished by those who view them, for they have an appeal to five and possibly a sixth sense. Not to be viewed hurriedly, these paintings give an awareness of a Creator - an alertness to the feel of various textures - sands like coarse granulated sugar; shells smooth of surface and waxy; the smell of air slightly salty; the sound of gulls as they swarm around ships, impatient to fill their gullets with sea creatures churned to surface in the boat's wake; and there's a hint of music, too, in the rhythm of waves washing the shore - sloshing against drifts - diminishing with the ebb tide; the sense of touch - a desire to reach out and touch the velvety smoothness of feathers or to wonderingly finger the surface of sun bleached wood.

Nadine's seascapes are a salute to our shores - to our waters - and to something beyond our reach but within our consciousness. There's a lasting and a spiritual quality to these works.

The seventeen paintings will hang as an Art Exhibit in the Library - Culture - Center through Feb. 15. From the main entrance of the building take a short flight of stairs to the right and perhaps you may wish to linger following the exhibition, to enjoy many other historical attractions "Biloxi's Walking Tour" has to offer.

Admission is free to the old Magnolia Hotel, now a museum devoting space to the fishing industry, archeology, astronomy, Fred Baker, and Southern arts and crafts. Biloxi's beautiful beachfront is a fine example of New Classical Revival in the South and an exhibit of the history is located in the lobby.

Aside from an array of pamphlets, general information, and guided tours, Judy Rash keeps in her office an unusual "pet." According to Judy this female tarantula "Libby," is docile and has a sweet disposition - "just loves to have her back scratched." Judy says these spidery creatures have been wrongly accused of having a deadly sting.

"Surely if one stings you it can hurt pretty bad," Judy said, "but first they give you ample warning before an attack - and even if you were stung you wouldn't die from it."

The Culture Center and Library attracts and welcomes school groups - or any groups who wish a make appointment and visit Biloxi's (STAMM EXHIBIT - Page 2B)

Waveland krewe tells march plan

The Krewe of Nereids will parade Sunday, Jan. 29, beginning at 2 p.m. from its information point at the corner of Waveland and Central Avenues.

The parade will feature 10 floats designed and built for Nereids by Edward Scanlan Jr. of New Orleans.

Some 100 masked riders will participate, as well as numerous school bands and marching groups.

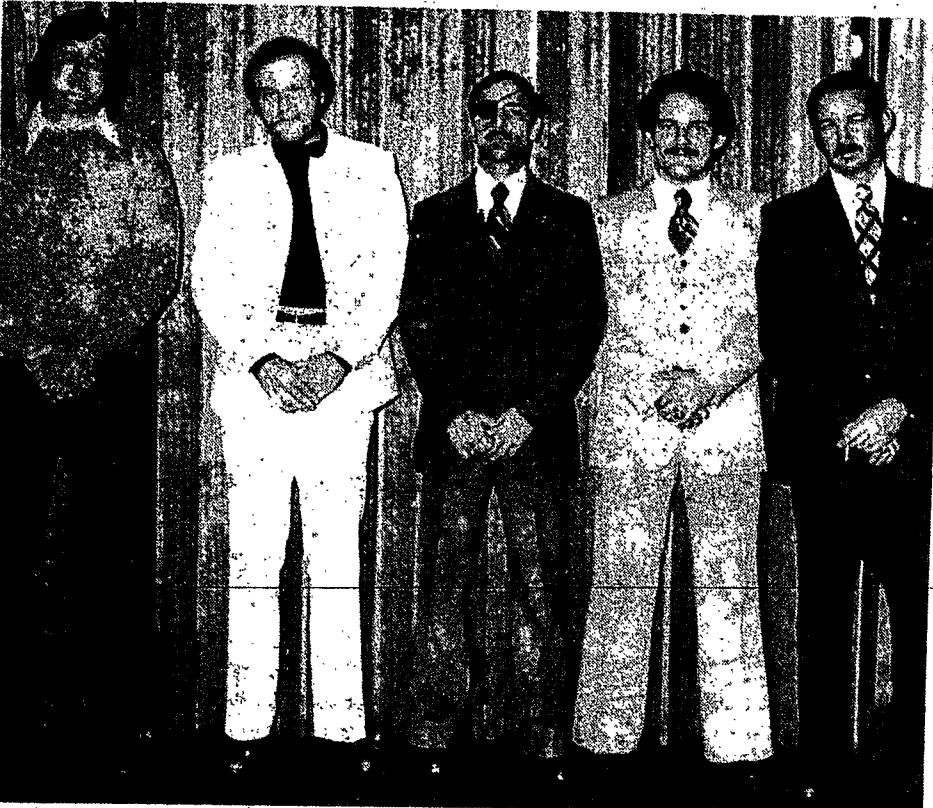

From Waveland and Central Avenues, the parade will proceed on Central to Lafitte Drive, to Beach Boulevard to Ocean Avenue, where the krewe will be joined by the King and Queen's reviewing stand at the intersection of the Old Main and Waveland.

DAILY THOUGHT

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish.

"An old man surprised everyone with his cheerfulness since he seemed to have an unusual amount of trouble and relatively few pleasures. When asked the secret of his cheery disposition, he replied: 'Well, you see, it's like this. The Bible says often 'And it came to pass,' never, 'It came to stay.'"

BUCCANEER CREW NOTES

Well, with the bad weather and illness going around, our classes at Buccaneer State Park have run into some problems. But, now I think we're ready to start back full force. Our schedule is: Ladies Exercise - Monday & Tuesday, 5:30 p.m. Basketball - Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. Flower Arranging - Friday, 9:30 a.m.

Our flower arranging class will begin meeting every Friday instead of on alternate Fridays. Like all of our classes, these will meet in the Recreation Hall and new members are invited. A phone call to the park before attending a class will inform a new member on the contents of the class, as well as what materials to bring.

In April, a new class will begin on Saturdays at 2:00 p.m. This class is entitled "Games of the World" and each week will feature instructions and historical comment on how to play as well as make the games. This class is planned for warmer weather, as many games are to be played outdoors.

This weekend's activities include a Saturday craft session for kids, family games and a Sunday tournament.

Because of increased vandalism to park property, night patrolling by park personnel will be increased. Vandalism on state property cost taxpayers money and can result in a criminal record to the vandal.

FLYING SCOT JUNIOR MID-WINTERS - Randy Santa Cruz and his crew, Rod and Dennis Stieff, finished fourth in the National Flying Scot Junior Mid-Winter Regatta held at Fairhope Yacht Club on Mobile Bay last weekend. Snow, sleet and freezing rain were the order of the day and discouraged many would-be competitors.

Mike Johnson of Ft. Walton Yacht Club, Florida, won the Junior Championship, with Danny Killean and Dwight LeBlanc of Southern Yacht Club in second and third.

IT'S TIME TO BRING AN END TO WASTE EVERYWHERE

Waste. It means using up our natural resources recklessly. And it means that whatever is lost through carelessness can never be replaced.

The early native Americans believed that nature knew best. In the last decade, nature indeed has been telling us that our fossil resources must be conserved if they are to last until they can be supplemented with alternate forms of energy. That means we need better home insulation, energy-saving building design, and more careful use of gas and oil by energy consumers.

Conservation. This company encourages it and practices it. Conservation won't solve the energy problems, but it will help make our resources last longer while we work to increase production of energy supplies.

Another way we're working for a better energy future.

Pass library aids opinion expression

The Mississippi Library Commission has received a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities, for a project to encourage Mississippians to formulate and express their opinions, according to Jack C. Mulkey, director. The grant is in the amount of $18,350.

The project, called "Making Yourself Heard," will include some forty different programs at forty public libraries across the state. William R. Russell, a noted journalist and author, is project director.

Russell, a resident of Tunica, is an instructor for creative writing workshops for Shelby State Community College in Memphis. A graduate of the University of Mississippi, Russell has worked as a reporter for the United Press and as clerk at the U.S. Embassy in Berlin. He served four and one half years with the U.S. Army Intelligence Branch during World War II.

According to Russell, the purpose of the "Making Yourself Heard" project is two-fold, to "encourage citizens to voice their concerns and to stress the importance of writing to newspapers, legislators, etc." To accomplish these purposes, each participating library will plan and produce a program. "Each librarian will select a panel including one media person, one local official and two humanists," Russell explained. "The individual libraries are also selecting dates and times for the programs."

"Besides stressing the importance of citizens voicing their opinions, the panelists will acquaint the public with sources for names, addresses, etc. for the people to write," Russell continued. "Many people don't realize that the very information they need is available to them right in their public library."

The programs will begin in February and conclude by May 31.

"We're hoping for large turnouts at each of these programs," Russell said. "Since the town hall way of talking has become obsolete, meetings in the library are the best way for all types of people to gather for this type of discussion."

Participating libraries in the project include Pass Christian, Picayune, and Gulfport.
